

KRISZTIAN KATONA

Vice President of Global Competition and Regulatory Policy, Computer and Communications Industry Association (CCIA)

Krisztian Katona is Vice President of Global Competition and Regulatory Policy at the Computer and Communications Industry Association (CCIA) in Washington, DC. He represents CCIA and advises industry on domestic and international antitrust and competition, technology, and regulatory issues. Krisztian has more than eighteen years of professional experience, including serving at the U.S. Federal Trade Commission (FTC) as Counsel for International Antitrust responsible for multilateral antitrust affairs and international enforcement and policy cooperation. In that role, he also represented the FTC and the U.S. Government in bilateral antitrust consultations and international organizations, including the OECD Competition Committee and the International Competition Network. In 2019, he served as a senior FTC advisor at CADE, the Brazilian antitrust agency. In addition, he served as an attorney in the FTC's Technology Enforcement Division, investigating and litigating potential violations of the antitrust laws in technology markets. During his 15-year government career, he also received the FTC Award for Distinguished Service. Prior to the FTC, he worked on antitrust and competition matters in the Washington, DC office of Weil, Gotshal & Manges LLP, focusing on international mergers and investigations of alleged anticompetitive conduct and civil litigation.

Krisztian is admitted to the bars of the State of New York, the U.S. Supreme Court, and the Supreme Court of England and Wales. He serves on the governing Council of the ABA Antitrust Law Section, having previously served as co-chair of Committee Operations and the Section's International Committee. He holds law degrees from the University of Virginia School of Law, the University of Konstanz (Germany), Paris II Panthéon-Assas University (France), and ELTE University (Hungary). He is currently pursuing an SJD at the George Washington University Law School, where his doctoral dissertation on international merger cooperation is supervised by former FTC Chair William Kovacic. A frequent speaker and author on international competition, technology, and regulatory issues, he is a Senior Fellow at the Queen Mary University of London and a Senior Fellow of the Excellence in Government leadership program. In 2016 and 2020, Global Competition Review named him one of the top 40 competition lawyers under the age of 40 worldwide.
